GAME WARDENS ARREST LAW VIOLATORS

Bourbon county game and fish wardens are strictly on the job, day and night, as a number of law violators have found to their sorrow recently. In the past few days five arrests have been made by the wardens, Peck Fisher and Harold Shively, both of Paris, and A. C. Arnold, Clay Current and John Arnold, of Montgomery county, being taken in the toils. The men were caught in the act of unlawfully seining Stoner creek, and were placed under arrest. Fisher and Shively were given a hearing in the County Court before Judge Geo. Eatterton, and each fined $25.00.

The wardens, with the earnest cooperation and assistance of the law-abiding citizens of the city and county and the game and fish organizations, are making a determined effort to break up illegal fishing and seining in the streams of the county, and their efforts will have the sanction of all good sportsmen who believe in obeying the laws.

BASE BALL NOTES

The Paris Ruggles team met defeat in the game at Winchester, Saturday afternoon with the Winchester Hustlers, the latter team taking the big end of a 12 to 2 score. Nichols, the Paris twirler, was batted hard. The Hustlers put up a stiff game. Paris could not overcome the long lead of their opponents.

The Paris team was accompanied by a large crowd of "fans" who rooted long and loud for the success of the home team, but returned disappointed and without a surcease of sorrow.

In a one-sided game at the Second street park Sunday afternoon, the Paris Ruggles team defeated the United Clothing Co. team from Lexington in hollow style, by a score of 17 to 2. The game was featured by the fielding of Nippert, Godman and Burnett, the pitching of Campanoni, and the batting of Nippert and Burnett. The batteries were: For Paris, Campanoni, Brewsbaugh and Mann; for the United Clothing Co. team, Sower, Burton and Cassidy. The attendance was about 1,000. The score: R H E U. C. The Lexington Reo ball club is planning a tour through Central Kentucky towns beginning Monday, July 28. Letters have been sent to Paris, Nicholasville, Harrodsburg, Frankfort, Richmond, Cynthiana and Winchester teams, asking for games. The trip has been planned as a baseball boosting excursion to awaken interest in the National game.

Sunday's Lexington Herald says: "It now appears practically certain that a Kentucky semi-pro baseball championship series will be played off this summer, starting probably about the first Sunday in August. Teams of Lexington, Covington, Newport, Bellevue and Ludlow have already signified their intentions of taking part in the series, while Cynthiana, Winchester, Maysville, Paris, Silver Grove, Falmouth and other towns are considered as likely members of the impromptu organization."

"It is thought that the series will be played out among about eight clubs, and the first games will be played about the first Sunday in next month."

GEORGE McCANDLESS SUICIDES BY SHOTGUN ROUTE

With the entire top of his skull blown away, and the rugs, walls and other parts of the room splattered with his lifeblood and brains, the dead body of George McCandless, aged fifty, well-known Paris meat cutter, was found in an upstairs room at the home of Ben Lewis, on South Second street, Saturday morning. By his side lay a single-barreled shotgun, with which he had ended his life.

McCandless had been in a despondent mood for several days, and had told several parties in his room that he did not care whether he lived much longer or not. It was stated on the authority of one who knew him well that he had become involved in financial difficulties and seeing no way out of the maze, resolved to end his life.

Early Saturday morning McCandless went to the home of Ben Lewis, on Second street. Meeting Lewis and some of the family some distance from the house he asked permission to go in and lie down, as his head hurt, and he wanted quiet. Lewis sent him to the house. In a short time after McCandless had entered the home the members of the family heard the muffled report of a gun, which seemed to come from the room where McCandless had gone. Hastening there they found McCandless' body on the floor, with his skull blown away, and the smoking gun by his side. There was no one in the house at the time, the closest ones being Lewis and his family, who were some distance away. Coroner Rudolph Davis was summoned, and after conducting an investigation of the premises, had the body removed to the Davis undertaking establishment, where it was prepared for burial.

Coroner Davis impelled a jury and held an inquest at the court house yesterday morning, conducting a rigid examination into the affair, owing to many rumors that had gotten into circulation regarding the possibility of foul play. The jury, composed of H. M. Collins, foreman, Frank P. Lowry, Harry Ogle, John H. Doty, D. C. Parrish and Frank Clark, returned the following verdict: "We, the jury, find that George McCandless came to his death from a shotgun wound, inflicted by himself on July 9, 1921."

McCandless had no immediate relative in this vicinity, save an aunt, Mrs. Frank Farmer, and a second cousin, Mrs. L. T. Bramlette, both of Paris, and an uncle, Wm. Cameron, of near Shawhan.

McCandless was a native of Petersburg, Lincoln county, and had been a resident of Paris for many years. He was a meat cutter by occupation, and had been in the employ of Baldwin Bros. for the past five years. He was a son of Robert and Millie Cameron McCandless, both of whom preceded him to the grave some years ago. He was unmarried, and was a member of the Knights of Pythias and Junior Order of United American Mechanics of this city.

The funeral was held at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with services conducted at the grave in the Paris Cemetery by Rev. W. E. Ellis, pastor of the Paris Christian church. The committal services at the graveside were in charge of Bourbon Council Junior Order United American Mechanics.

BOURBON ORCHESTRA MAKES GOOD.

The Bourbon Orchestra, composed of six talented young Paris musicians, closed a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House Saturday night, much to the regret of the patrons, who voted them as in every respect worthy successors to the Gregg Orchestra. The boys rendered excellent musical programs at each performance, delighting the audience by the excellence of their selections.

This orchestra is composed of Paris boys, who have made a careful and thorough study of music. That they have succeeded is evidenced by the applause which they received at each performance during the recent engagement.

The same firm offered the two-story brick residence on the corner of Ninth and High streets, which was a part of the estate, but it was withdrawn at $8,500. T. E. Mr. Waterfill has already broken ground for the erection of a modern frame bungalow, which he expects to occupy as soon as completed.

THE BOURBON GUN CLUB

The Bourbon Gun Club held their regular shoot last Friday afternoon with a good crowd in attendance. There were two trophies for this shoot. OTIS SKINNER APPEARS IN FAMOUS "KISMET" ROLE

In all the length and breadth of fiction there is no more picturesque character than Hajji, the beggar of Bagdad. Edward Knoblock, the playwright, made Hajji famous in the stage version of "Kismet," and Otis Skinner, perhaps the best known and most popular actor in the country, immortalized Hajji during the years he gave life to this characterization on the stage.

The Robertson-Cole Company has filmed the famous play, which will be run for two days at the Alamo and Paris Grand, to-day and to-morrow, and thousands of people in this city are going to have an opportunity of seeing Hajji, the beggar portrayed by no less a person than Otis Skinner himself. It is a safe prediction that the swaggering, crafty, adventure loving and amusing old Bagdad vagabond will win every one's heart and in the years to come when old plays are discussed, his memory will be green.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING

(Harrodsburg Democrat)

Last Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock, "Mooreland House," the palatial home of Mrs. Daniel Lawson Moore, was transformed into a "Mid-Summer Night's Dream" for the marriage of the young daughter of the house, Miss Minnie Ball Moore, and Dr. Wm. Bell Goddard, the sacred date being the 30th anniversary of the marriage of the bride's mother and father. It was the first wedding on the lawn ever seen in this county and was witnessed by about 175 relatives of the families. A huge screen of cedars had been arranged between the massive old trees in the center of the yard, the screen being interspersed with large bunches of white blossoms from the garden at "Mooreland House." Tall baskets of white, green and lavender, the color scheme of the wedding, were placed at regular intervals to space the altar, and chairs were arranged inside the circular drive, the whole being brilliantly lighted with electricity. The gown of the bride was exquisite in the extreme, created of soft ivory ivory satin, trimmed in laces of the wedding gowns worn by her mother and both aunts. A Duchess and rose point lace flounce formed the skirt of the dress, a wonderful rose point Bertha around the neck, another Bertha for the head dress or crown to support the superb rose point veil which covered the entire four-yard train. The orange blossoms, fan and handkerchief were used by her mother thirty years ago. She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and valley lilies. Promptly at the appointed time the strains of the wedding march were played by three lifetime friends of the bride, Mrs. Grimes at the piano, Mrs. Martha Thompson Alexander and Miss Nell Dedman, violinists. The bride's maids wore green organdies and carried shower bouquets of violets. The bridal party entered from the residence in the following order: Miss Nell Dulin from Madisonville, Ky., and Mr. Henry Coleman, Miss Bettie Muir, from Nicholasville, and Mr. Bacon Moore, Miss Frances Cochran from Maysville, and Mr. Winston Wiseman, Jr., of Danville, Miss Elizabeth Salter, Danville, and Mr. Charles Stone, of St. Louis, Miss Woodard Durham, Danville, and Dr. Hunter Moore, Harrodsburg. Mrs. Henry Coleman, the bride's only sister, was matron of honor and came along in lavender georgette crepe, carrying pink and lavender gladiolus. Then came the groom and his best man, Dr. W. H. Haggard, of Nashville. The exquisite young bride came along and looked the part of a veritable young queen in all the dignity of ancestral bridal habiliments.

Dr. Sellers, pastor of the Christian church, performed a solemn and most impressive ceremony which united the lives of this splendid young couple. The bridal party and guests came immediately into the drawing room where a beautiful reception followed, music being furnished by professionals from Lexington. An elaborate two-course supper was served. The ices were wedding bells, slippers, roses and brides and grooms. The dining room table was ornamented with the bride's cake (a pyramid of cakes) the perfection of the caterers' art. The emblems were drawn from the cake as follows: Miss Cochran, the thimble; Miss Dulin, the ring; Miss Salter, the needle; Dr. Haggard, the heart, and Winston Wiseman, bachelor's button.

The bride's bouquet was thrown from the second floor and caught by Miss Elizabeth Slater. The bride's gifts to her maids were gold thimbles, the groom giving his grooms-men silver match cases and to his best man, Dr. Haggard, a hammered silver card case.

The bride's going-away toilet was a vouching tan broadcloth, braided in blue and gold, with hat and shoes to match.

The young people left for an automobile trip to Michigan for several weeks and upon returning will reside with Mrs. Moore.

The bride is the youngest daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. D. L. Moore and received her early education at Beaumont College, Harrodsburg; K. W. C. at Danville, later at Miss Semple's School, in Louisville; Mary Baldwin's at Staunton, Va., finishing with two years at the Colonial School, in Washington, D. C., with honors.

The groom is the only son of the late Nick Goddard and Mrs. Annie Bell Goddard, and grandson of T. C. Bell and W. W. Goddard. He received his early education at Granville, Ohio, at Dennison University, and completed his medical course at Vanderbilt University. He was in New York at a French Hospital when war was declared. He volunteered and his work being so noticeably proficient in the various camps, he was soon promoted to the Mobile operating unit No. 1, the most active unit leaving this country. He was in France fourteen months and was operating under fire when the armistice was signed. He remained in France six months, having charge of a French hospital in Paris, where he did his best work and had worldwide experience.

The gifts were numerous and magnificent, consisting of silver, crystal, China and Oriental rugs, etc., and were exhibited in the room in which the bride was born.

MRS. MINAKER MAKES STATEMENT OF PARIS CASE

In Tuesday's issue of THE NEWS we published a letter from Mr. Sol Fleming, of Frankfort, chairman of the Mutual Welfare League, in regard to the case of Mrs. Chas. Scott, who was reported as being in a destitute condition on West Seventh street in this city.

Mrs. Harriet Minaker, Visiting Nurse of the Bourbon County Health and Welfare League, makes the following statement in regard to the case:

"With regard to Mrs. Charlie Scott and five children, living on West Seventh street, in this city, we wish to let the public know just what has been done for her relief. Her rent is paid up and the house screened by her church; milk is being given by the red cross; one friend pays for the gas and lights; the county makes an appropriation, and the Health and Welfare League makes up the difference in groceries, clothing and medicines. The League has had the greater care of the family for the past two years."

Mrs. Minaker submitted a detailed statement of the circumstances in the case to Mr. Fleming, and received the following reply:

"Your exceedingly kind and courteous letter of the 5th inst., relative to the family and surroundings of Mrs. Charley Scott, to hand. In reply beg to return our sincere thanks to you, and to all who have rendered aid and comfort to Mrs. Scott."

"We have mailed a check for $10 to her to add to the donations of the good people of Paris, and its institution, with which you are connected, and will contribute $5.00 per month in the future, until the father and husband can secure his liberty by pardon or parole."

"Again thanking you and your League and the other charitable people of Paris for the interest displayed in the relief work, in this particular case, I am

"Sincerely Yours,
"SOL FLEMING, Pres. M. W. L.

The "Green Mountain Boys." The "Green Mountain Boys" was a name assumed by a body of soldiers from Vermont in the Revolutionary war. They captured Fort Concordia at the battle of Bennington. They were organized originally by Ethan Allen to oppose the claims of New York to the territory of Vermont. The Green Mountain Boys were the first to ask that Vermont be regarded as a state. This was not granted until 1791, when Vermont was admitted as the fourteenth state.

Oil of Apples. Chemists have newly succeeded in extracting from apple parings, by means of ether, an essential oil, yellowish, and of a somewhat gummy consistency, which possesses in high degree the characteristic and delicious odor of fresh apples. Crabapple parings yield more of this oil than those of ordinary apples. It is likely to be turned to useful account for flavoring purposes and conceivably for perfumes.

STONE TABLET UNVEILED ON SITE OF OLD FORT

Swaying leafy boughs, singing birds, sunny skies, fields of ripened grain, freshly cut, lying yellow in the golden June sunshine—in the background the historic old stone house, Fairfield, in former days the home of the renowned Gen. James Garrard, behind whose gray stone walls was held the fourth court in the State of Kentucky—these marked the scene of the coming together of the Jemima Johnson Chapter, D. A. R., of Paris, and their guests from adjoining Central Kentucky towns, on Friday, June 24, at eleven o'clock. The occasion was the unveiling of the stone tablet erected by this Chapter to mark the site of what was known in early pioneer days as Martin's Fort.

The place is on the E. F. Clay farm, three miles from Paris on the Cynthiana pike, the exact spot having been located by the research of Mrs. Wade Whitley with the assistance of surveyors. This portion was ceded to the Paris Chapter by Col. Clay prior to his death and has been recently enclosed by a substantial stone wall with the tablet in the center. After the invocation by Rev. Dr. F. W. Eberhardt, pastor of Georgetown Baptist church, Mrs. Cassius Clay, Regent, stated briefly the purpose of the meeting and courteously introduced the speaker of the occasion, Mrs. W. T. Lafferty, of Lexington. Mrs. Lafferty, who has done such valuable research work in gathering together data concerning early Kentucky history, read from her carefully prepared manuscript, excerpts setting forth the manners, dress and customs of the pioneer settlers, who blazed the way through the trackless forests, endured privations and suffered hardships that we, their children, might live in peace and plenty. The speaker had made a detailed study of all the records and consequently was prepared to give interesting accounts of the lives and characters of many of these settlers who had an active part in the settlement of our beloved old Commonwealth. Boone, Harrod, Hinkson, Townsend, Coojer and Martin being foremost among them.

Mrs. Lafferty stated that this particular spot was the cradle of Bourbon county history. Martin's Fort, built in 1779 was one of the most formidable on the frontier. It was destroyed by the British and Indians on June 24, 1780, its occupants taken prisoners and carried away to the far North across the border into Canada.

At the site of the fort are the remains of the famous old Cooper's Run Baptist church, which played so important a part in the religious life of early Kentucky settlers. At the conclusion of Mrs. Lafferty's reading, Mrs. E. F. Clay made brief remarks, as did Dr. Daugherty, of Paris, who spoke of further incidents connected with the fort and church, which information he had gleaned from the diary of Gen. Garrard, from whom he is a lineal descendant.

The tablet was then unveiled by the two lovely little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Brutus Clay, Mary and Ann, dressed in airy green frocks, wearing the cunningest of poke bonnets tied over their pretty curls, their dimpled knees encased in lace trimmed pantalettes after the fashion of yesteryear. During the ceremony the guests stood and all sang America, while the manly young son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Talbot, clad in khaki uniform, stood at attention before the flag which veiled the stone tablet.

After the impressive ceremonies were concluded the Rev. J. T. Sharrard, of Paris, pronounced the benediction, and so another red-letter day passed into the history of the Jemima Johnson Chapter, D. A. R.

About 125 guests were present. A most bountiful and delicious luncheon was served at the noon hour. Those in attendance from Harrison county were Misses Eliza Lair, Mary Louise Northcutt, Gladys Rankin and Mrs. W. H. Jenkins.

The well-known old Ruggles' Fort, built about the same time as Martin's Fort, was located on the Lair farm in Harrison county, now in the possession of Miss Eliza Lair. It, also, has a most interesting history. It is the purpose of Miss Lair to mark the site herself and thus preserve for posterity the exact location of this early Kentucky stronghold.

RAPID DECREASE OF PENSIONS NOTED

There are 1,076 soldiers and 1,220 widows on the Confederate pension rolls, according to State Inspector and Examiner Henry E. James, who filed with Governor Edwin P. Morrow a report covering an investigation of the Department of Confederate Pensions from December 1, 1917, to May 31, 1921.

Inspector James is of the opinion that the percentage of widows as compared to the soldiers will continue to increase and that when all of the old soldiers are gone many widows will be living. The decrease in numbers on the pension roll from February, 1918, to May, 1921, is about 9 per cent. per annum. At this rate of increase, which will grow larger as time passes, it will be but a very brief period until all of the pensioners have passed, Mr. James said.

August 1, 1918, the law increasing the monthly pension rate from $10 to $12 became effective. This made an increase in the annual amount paid of approximately $50,000. For 1918 the total pension payment was $340,380.08; for 1919, $370,455.66, and 1920, $344,962.73. The total annual payment at this time is about what it was two and one-half years ago, notwithstanding the two dollars a month increase in the rate. Between the February and May quarterly payments of this year 28 soldiers and 14 widows died.

Named "Empire State." The name of the "Empire State" was first given to New York by George Washington, in his reply to an address from the New York city common council in 1784.

BURLEY 'SIGN-UP' STARTS IN RUSH

Big Growers First To Join As 1,395,600 Pounds Are Pledged First Day

DRIVE NOW IN BLUEGRASS

Carrollton, Ky., June 4.—Growers of more than 1,395,600 pounds of burley tobacco signed the contract of the proposed Co-operative Burley Tobacco Marketing Association, at the opening meeting of the active sign-up campaign here today.

Acresage represented by the signatures was more than 1,400, with an average production of about 1,000 pounds to the acre. Two hundred and thirty-five growers signed the contract. Many more were forced to go home without having an opportunity to sign, on account of lack of clerks to attend to them.

Growers from three counties in Indiana and four in Kentucky were among those who bound themselves by the provisions of the five-year contract of the association.

Three farm organizations in Carroll County made the day a special one for their members, and held special meetings on preceding days to urge them to sign the contract immediately. The Farmers' Union was represented by 70 per cent of its members. Approximate figures indicated that the percentage of the Farm Bureau was about the same. The Eureka, a secret society of farmers, had held special meetings to bring the benefits of the plan before its members.

Signing began with the arrival of the first printed contracts from Louisville, and continued all morning without interruption. By noon more than 150 growers had signed, and others were crowding to the tables faster than clerks could prepare the papers for signature.

Curtis Montgomery, Ghent, Ky., was the first grower to sign the contract. He is one of the largest producers of Carroll County, and owns about 600 acres of land suitable for raising tobacco. He stayed in Carrollton all night in order to have the opportunity to sign first.

Despite the fact that a rain the night before the meeting had made a perfect tobacco setting season, hundreds of farmers dismissed the chance in order to attend the "sign-up." By 10 o'clock in the morning, the square around the courthouse, where the signing was in progress, was crowded with farmers and their families. A constant stream continued to pour into the town during the entire morning and early afternoon, as the districts more remote from the town sent in their contingents.

At noon, after the arrival of Judge Robert W. Bingham, Louisville, chief speaker of the day, and chairman of the organization committee of the proposed association, a procession of growers, headed by a band and a group of growers who had signed the contract, marched from the courthouse to the scene of the barbecue and burgoo feast and the afternoon speaking. It is estimated that 2,000 farmers took part. In addition to these many had gone ahead on foot and in cars.

Following the burgoo feast at 1:30 o'clock, Judge Bingham addressed the crowd in one of the town's warehouses. Ralph M. Barker, member of the organization committee, in introducing Judge Bingham, read a telegram from M. O. Wilson, campaign secretary of the association being formed by Virginia and Carolina growers, expressing congratulations and good wishes.

Prolonged applause was given Judge Bingham's prediction that an adequate co-operative association law would be readily passed by the next session of the Kentucky legislature.

At the conclusion of Judge Bingham's address, James C. Stone, Lexington, member of the organization committee, speaking as a representative of the growers of the Bluegrass, thanked the growers of this section for the impetus they had given the campaign, and assured them that the growers of his section would not be slow to follow the example. He said that without exception every man he had consulted in regard to the formation of the proposed association, had been in favor of the movement without reserve.

Other meetings at which the contract of the association will be offered to the growers for signatures will be held the week of June 13, at Shelbyville, Lexington, Maysville, Danville, Richmond, Cynthiana and possibly other points. Aaron Sapiro, attorney for twenty-two California co-operative associations and considered to be one of the greatest authorities on co-operative agriculture in the world, will address these meetings.

The following names were announced as members of the organization committee: Judge Bingham, Louisville; Mr. Barker, Carrollton; Edward Bassett, Desha Breckinridge, Harry Giovannoli, Shelby T. Harbison, Charles N. Manning, William A. McDowell, Dr. Frank L. McVey, James C. Stone and Miss Sunshine Sweeney, Lexington; T. S. Burnam, Richmond; Johnson N. Camden and W. E. Simms, Versailles; Samuel Clay and John T. Collins, Paris; J. N. Kehoe, Maysville; the Rev. John F. Kneue, McQuady; N. C. Ridgeway, Falmouth, and W. A. Clemons, Springfield.

UNSIGHTLY AND DANGEROUS SHACKS

Dilapidated buildings of all kinds everywhere are a source of loss to property owners, a menace to civic beauty, and a standing invitation to triffers to use them as places for loafing purposes and other nefarious uses at night. Fires often start in such places and have resulted in the loss of valuable property exposed and loss of life likewise. Why not tear down all such structures, or repair and make useful and revenue-producing these unsightly and dangerous structures.

SERIOUS SITUATION IN LIVE STOCK MARKETS

How serious the livestock situation of the country is at the present time may be gathered from the movement of the Morgan banking interests and other financial institutions of the country to create a fund of $25,000,000 to be loaned in an effort to rehabilitate the industry. A large percentage of this money is expected to be loaned in the South where the livestock industry is of the first magnitude and promises with proper encouragement to become its most important business.

A percentage of this money it is probable will come to Kentucky to be disbursed among farmers for use in this field. In this connection emphasis is being laid by experts upon the necessity of the farmer producing only the better grade of livestock in order to get the largest possible return on his investment. Support by the United States Government to the Farmer's Better Sire Sales being held by the Louisville Livestock Exchange and the Kentucky Pure Bred Livestock Association is the most important step being taken in this direction.

The second of the sales to be held in this series will be the auctioning off of 200 pure bred bucks and ewes and 2,000 high grade ewes at the Bourbon Stock Yards on August 11. In the sale of purebred registered bulls on June 2, the widest distribution of the animals with the sheep sale. All the animals at this sale will be guaranteed as represented and the prices, as at the bull sale where they were amazingly low, will be made by the farmers themselves.

REGULAR SERIAL

"A friend who has heard that I suffered from insomnia," said Blinby, "told me a sure cure. 'Eat a couple of bananas and drink two or three glasses of milk before going to bed,' and I'll warrant you'll be asleep within half an hour."

"I did as he suggested and went to sleep soon after retiring. Then a friend with his head under his arm came along and asked me if I wanted to buy his feet. I was negotiating with him when the dragon on which I was riding slipped out of his skin and left me floating in mid-air."

"While I was considering how I should get down, a bull with two heads peered over the edge of the wall and said he would haul me up if I would first climb up and rig a windlass for him. So as I was sliding down the mountainside the conductor came in and I asked him when the train would reach the station."

"We passed your station 200 years ago," he said, calmly folding the train up and slipping it into his vest pocket. At this juncture I awoke and found I had been asleep ten minutes."

THE ELLIS TEA ROOM

Opposite Court House,

LOOK PLEASANT, PLEASE

Facing a professional camera is a joy to some of us and a task to others. Of course, mere amateur snap shots are no ordeal. Since the movies have become such a national institution, every other person you meet have developed a desire to appear before the camera. The majority of us pose for portraits merely for private consumption or infliction upon our family and friends. Our actress and actor friends of stage and screen spend many an hour posing in characteristic attitudes. They have developed the patience necessary for good photographic results. Perhaps it is no joke for you to have your picture taken. But you enjoy every minute that the popular "Topics of the Day" films are on the screen. To place yourself in a happy mood for the photographer to "shoot" you, just read the humor printed herewith by THE BOURBON NEWS:

Hazz Whiskers.

Patient Photographer—"Cumcum! Look at the birdie!"

Intoxicated Person (reaching for his hip).—"I hic, can't see any birdies, but here's a hic, coupler swallows."—Vaudeville News.

Portrait Photographer—"Look pleasant, please!"

Major Jack Allen—"I can't. I'm thinking what this is going to cost me."—Rutgers.

Stage Manager—"There is one thing I would like to know about this photograph of a drinking scene in the play."

Photographer—"What is that?"

Stage Manager—"Was it made with dry plates?"—Baltimore American.

A brother and sister were inspecting photographic proofs.

Kate—"What do you expect, free movies?"—Ada (Ohio) Herald.

Toinette—"Some photo-graft schemes, I guess."—Rutgers.

You ask me why.

Then I'll say that it takes a dark room to develop it."—Ohio Sun Dial.

Mrs. Gabbie (showing photo to husband).—"This is an instantaneous picture of myself."

Mr. Gabbie—"I can see that without having it told. Your mouth is shut."—Syracuse Herald.

AN OLD CURE FOR WORRY

Mind cure of the variety which has come to be known in our modern days as "New Thought," seems to have roots that run back into an olden time. In a quaint and curious volume of forgotten lore entitled, "The Physical and Mental Treatment of the Human Body," written by Dr. Manseman, an eminent English medico, and published in London late in the sixteenth century, we find the following cure for worry:

"Let the sufferer think of the person he or she loves best; dwell upon his charms and graces; cogitate deeply upon the affection they bear the one for the other. If this does not have a soothing effect, then let the patient try a small draught of strongly brewed tea with a lump of ginger in it. The efficacy of this is wonderful."

It is not quite certain whether the wonderful efficacy is to be attributed to the mental treatment, or to the strong tea with a lump of ginger in it. Perhaps it is the combination that the good doctor had in mind. It looks a little as if he believed in the wisdom of what betting folk call "hedging," somewhat on the plan of Br'er Rabbit planning to capture Mr. Possum 'a'gwine or 'a'comin'."

The prescription, as far as the first part of it is concerned, follows what we now regard as psycho-therapy. The chronic worrier is an out-and-out egotist. The cure, consequently, is to switch his thought away from himself to some other line. But, instead of thinking simply of some beloved one who may be "uncertain, coy, and hard to please," or inconsistent and a cause of doubt and anxiety, the better plan is to let the mind dwell on the goodness and beauty and splendor of life as a whole.

No man possessed by an enthusiasm for a great cause, or interested in his work, rather than in himself, will be troubled by worry. Still, there is no harm in a little "ginger" in the mental attitude.—Ex.

Pleasing Mouth.

The pleasing mouth has lips that curve from thin outer corners to a ripe fullness at the middle. The sweep should be upward to a fine cleft at the middle of the upper lip. A deep cleft just about the center of the upper lip is one of the recognized marks of beauty.

Scent in Each Wood.

Were our sense of smell more highly developed and better trained, says the American Forestry Magazine, we should find that every wood has its own peculiar scent by which alone it could be distinguished from all the rest.

Early Irish Coin.

One of the early coins in Ireland was the eagle, made of base metal and current about 1272, but an earlier coin was the farthing, made of silver, during the reigns of King John, and now very rare and of great value.

Thinness of Spider's Thread.

A scientist once compared a hair of his beard with a spider's thread under a microscope and estimated that it would take 10,000 threads to equal one hair in substance.

WHY IS AN AMATEUR POET?

A cynic might declare that writing poetry is a disease which is born in the spring season. This affliction, once you have caught it is difficult to cure permanently. It is liable to break out more or less frequently during the year. An embryo poet has little mercy on the good "King's English" and the words of our own United States. What the poetic penner does to make words rhyme is a crime, deserving of penance. Of course, after undergoing a long siege of writing poetry and due convalescence, the patient poet may become a regular writer. Then his "stuff" may be proclaimed "professional." The column conductors and jokesmiths of the press, who themselves are subject to poetic outbursts, have written humorous lines about would-be poets. In "Topics of the Day" Films at popular theatres such jokes provoke much merriment. Whether or not you "poetize" the following lines presented by THE BOURBON NEWS may inspire you to laughter:

She—"John, why didn't you write a sonnet to me to-day?"

He—"I did start one about your beautiful countenance, dear, but then I thought of how untrue it would be to speak of lines on your face."—Princeton Tiger.

Magazine Editor—"Are your clever verses 'The Kiss' original?"

Blushing Young Poetess—"Not quite. 'The Kiss' was a collaboration."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Editor—"For Heaven's sake, stop deluging me with your stuff. Isn't there anything that will dam this flood of poetry?"

Tony—"You are stringing me!"

"My heart is with the ocean!" cried the poet rapturously.

"You've gone me one better," said the sea-sick friend, as he took a firmer grip on the rail.—Princeton Tiger.

Poet—"Dear Editor: What about my poem, 'Why Do I Live?'"

Editor—"You live, Augustus, because you sent it by mail."—Vaudeville News.

Wedded by Eating Out of Bowl.

Marriage is not a religious ceremony among the Burmese. There is a ceremony, of course, but the only necessary and binding part of it is that the couple should, in the presence of witnesses called together for the purpose, eat out of the same bowl.

THE FLAVOR LASTS

PAPER PRICES ARE BEING "ADJUSTED"

The paper makers are on strike. The manufacturers were able to make so much profit last year that they have found it necessary to cut the wages of their employees 30 per cent, and increase working hours to 50.

There was a few weeks ago a real danger that paper might reach a national price, owing to the business depression, and consequently slack demand. The strike will help to prevent what have been a serious loss of profit to the manufacturers.

There is nothing complex about this paper situation, that is being brought to the attention of the reader by the harassed newspapers. You can see the reason for it, in ten minutes' observation of the shopper in any town or city. There goes a woman with a market basket. She has seven packages. Only one of them is not elaborately wrapped with a handsome paper carton and label. That one is a head of lettuce, and it is wrapped in manila paper. Even that can of sardines is encased in a colored paper box.

The paper is carried home, torn from the package and thrown away. It has cost the shopper from 10 to 200 per cent. to buy food in its expensive wrapper. She has helped the big packers and manufacturers to control food prices, too.

The consumption of paper in cartons and needless wasteful wrappers is three times that of the consumption by newspapers in this country.

A destruction of this manipulation of the paper market and the distribution of food would mean more to the consumer than a 75 per cent. reduction in freight rates, just by way of making you realize that you are concerned in the paper situation.

HERT'S PLACE UNFILLED

While Matt Chilton, of Louisville, representing Republican State Chairman Chesley Searcy, was in conference with Senator Richard P. Ernst and other Kentucky Republicans in Washington, it is understood that the subject under discussion was a minor patronage matter and did not in any way involve the filling of the vacancy from Kentucky on the Republican National Committee.

The Kentucky Republicans seem entirely at sea without Alvin T. Hert, their leader, and are wondering how to proceed to fill the vacancy. Custom leaves it up to the Republican State Committee to recommend a committeeman to the National Committee, but so far there is nothing to indicate any definite plans regarding the vacancy.

M. H. Thacker, former Governor of the Canal Zone, is in Washington from Kentucky for a conference with Republican leaders. He is anxious to obtain a diplomatic post in the Harding administration.

METEOR SHOWER CALLED OFF

Several weeks of intimacy with this solar system have had such an effect on the Pons Winnecke comet that it has changed its itinerary and departed from its orbit, the Harvard University Observatory has announced.

The change in the comet's plans has been caused by planetary interference and as a result the predicted meteoric showers are not now likely to fall, Solon I. Bailey, acting director of the observatory, asserted.

"As far as we have learned no showers have yet occurred and it is unlikely that any will take place," Mr. Bailey said.

The comet, he added, is now outward bound through space.

Lieut. J. O. Creech, of the Lexington Aviation Company, flew the "Daniel Boone," one of their largest airplanes to Paris, Friday, to carry passengers in local "hop-offs" and to make arrangements for a permanent landing field and air station for the accommodation of aircraft of his company and that of other companies and individual owners of planes. Lieut. Creech inspected several places in and around Paris likely to be suitable for a landing field, but deferred a final selection until later. On the return trip to Lexington, Lieut. RETURN FROM CAMP

The Boy Scouts, who spent two pleasant and profitable days camping at Boonesboro Beach returned Saturday, bronzed and happy as larks. Those who made the trip were: James Collier, Edward Templin, William Yerkes, William Lytle, Garrett Swinford, Harry Baldwin, Will Moore Lair, Walter Collins, William Talbott, T. J. Judy, Homer Wilson, Noah Hinton, Holt Henry, E. K. Rice, Jo Varden, Chas. Cook, Wm. Hinton, Edgar Hill, Sam Margolen, William Wilson, John B. Tate, Edward Merringer, Allen Bowling, Sol Feld.

The boys made the trip in automobiles furnished by Lawrence Mitchell, Harry Baldwin, Watt Judy and Owen L. Davis, who were in charge of the party, and by Buckner Woodford and Miss Lucy Blythe Simms.

They were unanimous in their opinion that Boonesboro was a great place—but that it was not near as good a place as Stoner Creek in many respects.

NEVER EXPECTED TO SEE WELL DAY

Covington Woman's Recovery Started
Neighbors To Taking Tanlac

"Since my remarkable recovery by taking Tanlac a number of my neighbors are taking it, too," said Mrs. Margaret Hutchings, 511 Baker street, Covington, Ky.

"About six years ago my back, limbs and joints got to hurting me and gradually grew worse until I could not even get about the house without using a stick for support. My back ached all the time and I could not bend over and straighten up without suffering agony. My stomach was in awful condition, too, and nothing I ate agreed with me. I felt so miserable and so nervous that I never expected to see a well day again."

"I never dreamed a medicine could do what Tanlac has done for me, and I am just a different person now. It benefited me in every way. I haven't an ache or a pain and I sleep and feel better than I have in years. It is just grand." (adv)

PARIS DECIDES IN FAVOR OF LONG SKIRTS

A competent observer believes that Paris has decreed in favor of longer skirts and less exposure of the female form divine, because, where there is so much revelation, all mystery and all the charm that goes with mystery, disappears. We wish we could believe this explanation and were not tempted to suggest that, since fashion means principally a change and it was virtually impossible to shorten the skirt, there was no alternative save to make them longer. And further, is it because of the lure of mystery that all complexions these days are artificial and show a doll-like uniformity of whites and reds? Or is it a conspiracy for the benefit of the cosmetic dealers and contrivors, most of whom, if they are not French, seek to convey an atmosphere all of France? Whichever it is the return to nature would be one popular fashion move we need not expect.

The Loose lecture is thrilling, constructive and of practical value to every community.

This lecture will be given on the fourth afternoon of the Chautauqua.

Autoists Destroy A Pole a Day

In this section of the state the telephone company loses an average of a pole a day, due to automobile and other accidents.

Worse still the destruction of a telephone pole usually means a serious interruption to service.

When there is a cable or a cable box on the pole, the damage is likely to put 200 or more telephones out of order for a day or more.

Substantial as they are the poles cannot withstand the compact of an automobile driven at high speed.

We cannot control the reckless driving, but we can ask you to bear this in mind when your service is interrupted by an occurrence of this kind.

CROP PROSPECTS GOOD: BURLEY TOBACCO ACREAGE REDUCED

(Monthly Business Review)
Although crops in some localities have suffered from lack of sufficient rainfall, the outlook in general is very good.

Winter wheat harvesting has started in Southern Ohio and present indications are that the crop in the Northern part of the State will be ready to cut about the first of the month. Pennsylvania wheat has been damaged somewhat by rust.

The oats crop is reported to be growing nicely, although rain is needed in some localities.

Corn planting has been practically completed and in some sections considerable acreage is already under cultivation. A good stand is reported.

Acreage in Burley tobacco has been reduced and the farmers are making an effort to improve the quality of this year's crop. Weather conditions have not been very favorable and planting was delayed somewhat.

In spite of the fact that the farmer has been receiving very low prices for his products and has suffered some severe losses, he appears to have taken the stand that good crops produced at low cost will go far to offset the losses of last year.

Hard to attend to household duties with a constant aching back. A woman should not have a bad back.

Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by thousands. Ask your neighbor. Have been used in kidney trouble over 50 years.

Read what this Paris woman says: Mrs. J. R. Moore, 133 E. Eighth street, says: "I was in bad shape with my kidneys a year ago. My back nearly killed me with pain. There was a steady, dull ache just over my kidneys and I was weak and miserable. I often had to let my household work go undone and I would get so dizzy that black specks came before my eyes. My feet and ankles swelled, too. I doctored for a time, but got no relief, so I finally began the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. My health was greatly improved in a short time and two boxes cured me. It is a pleasure for me to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Into all of his utterances, Doctor Loveland injects an intense patriotism based on a sturdy Americanism and a sanity of vision that are stimulating and refreshing.

Doctor Loveland is so fired with his theme, and is so thoroughly the embodiment of that theme that he stirs the hearts of his hearers to new pride in the past and new faith in the future of America.

Doctor Loveland's lecture fills a genuine need in these days of baffling social and economic unrest.

Dr. Loveland will deliver his lecture on the sixth afternoon of the Chautauqua.

First Man Met Acts as Host.

Within the confines of Persia there are many different people, but none are more interesting than the semi-savage—though somewhat civilized—Luhish tribesmen, who still survive in the mountain fastnesses. They are a strange people, with laws and customs all their own. Murderous, quite unmoral, and ruthless when they descend from the mountain sides into the valleys to drive off any strangers who approach their borders, they are, nevertheless, the most hospitable of people.

GETTING INTO A PROFITABLE GAME

An Alaskan gold mining company is engaged in remodeling its plant for the purpose of manufacturing wood pulp for paper. Profits in gold production are too meager.

On ore the possible profit is less than a dollar the ton. Profits in paper have risen to as high as $80 a ton. Takes a pretty smart gold mine to beat that.

Times change. The paper industry was developed to supply the printing and publishing industry. Along with it grew the modest wrapping paper industry, an admitted necessity. Wrapping paper was largely made from waste and re-used materials, straw, etc. The use of paper in other lines has increased until now it is said there are 1,500 distinct articles manufactured in this country from paper. Of this great output three-fourths of the raw material must come from the same source as that of the newspapers. Box and carton manufacturers use three times the material required for the newspapers.

Some genius a few years ago discovered that there was enough Indian left in the majority of us to pay three prices for our food, drugs, etc., if they were packed in gaudy, expensive looking packages.

So the paper situation has come to be controlled by this big demand, which cares little about the price. While the newspapers struggle for their very lives, under present prices, the consumer continues to buy wasteful packages, and growl about the high cost of living.

Cheap paper built this well-known republic—nothing else could have done it. It is dangerous to tamper with the only raw material possible for the printing and publishing interests.

And when we are both murdering the press and paying needlessly high prices for the foolish decoration, it would seem that the fool-killer is overdue.

The fox-tailed monkey of South America utters loud cries before sunrise and sunset.

COL. ARMSTRONG'S COMMENT ON CENSUS REPORT OF KENTUCKY HORSES

The War Department is interested in the increase of Pure-Bred Horses

"There is the utmost need in this country today of increasing the number of pure-bred horses, particularly those of the thoroughbred type, on which the War Department must depend for its cavalry mounts in case of national emergency."

The above is a passage from the statement by Col. Frank S. Armstrong, Chief of the U. S. Army Remount Service, relative to the 1920 census of Kentucky horses.

The uneasiness of practical, patriotic men like Colonel Armstrong over the situation was amply justified by the lesson of the last great war, which so strikingly demonstrated the value of the horse in connection with modern warfare and revealed what would have become a pitiful shortage, had the Germans held out only a very few weeks longer than they did.

Nor must we forget the importance of breeding better horses more extensively in times of peace. Better bred horses mean better work horses; better prices for them, and a reader market.

The 1920 census figures indicate that Kentucky, as usual, will lead her sister states as to both number and class of horses, but even we are far from approaching what should be our quota in either count.

"Despite the very small amount of pure-bred stock, as compared with the total number of horses in the state, I believe that, when similar figures for the other states become available, a comparison of all will show that Kentucky still holds its rank as the foremost state in producing thoroughbreds."

"The relatively small percentage of thoroughbreds and of other classes of pure-bred stock included in the total number of horses in Kentucky, is a general, and not a local, situation, and the other states probably will show even smaller percentages. The same conditions, I am told, prevail with livestock other than horses, though probably not to the same extent as with the latter. The census report upholds and justifies the position taken by the American Remount Association that there is the utmost need in this country today of increasing the number of pure-bred horses, particularly those of the thoroughbred type, on which the War Department must depend for its cavalry mounts in case of national emergency, and which it met with great difficulty in procuring in sufficient numbers during the recent war. The national need of upbuilding and increasing American thoroughbred horses can not, in my opinion, be over-emphasized."

CORN

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Change of Trade.

Some years ago a cotton man inquired at a large bank regarding his note, which the bank held for a sizable amount. "Yes," remarked an officer, "it falls due tomorrow, and we expect it will be paid." The cotton man made no reply for a moment, then asked abruptly, "What is your business?" "Why, I am a banker," was the surprised response. "Well," mused the cotton man, "tomorrow you are going to be a cotton merchant."

Everything for QUALITY—nothing for show

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigarette aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.

SUGAR COATED PILLS OF WISDOM

(By Aesop, Jr.)

A sleeping mouse gathers no big eats.

Night is right for "Mice in Council." A waltzing mouse that hesitates near a cat is lost.

A mouse in a girl's silk stocking is worse than two in her hand. Adventure for the mouse may mean lunch for the cat.

Perhaps we have mice to thank, or spunk, for women's short skirts. The "Mice in Council" should worry if the proposal to "bell" the cat didn't go over. It isn't the first time that a proposal failed to "ring" a belle.

Many a mouse thinks he's the "cheese" until the trap snaps.

No wonder the "Mice in Council" accomplished nothing but talk, since all the mice came in with their tales.

Why not let the "Mice in Council" debate about the league of nations? Who could better qualify to discuss cheesy bait than the little trap-dodgers?

A little mousing now and then is relished by the best of cats.

STRAY FORD FOUND

The Falmouth Outlook says: "Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cushman awoke the other morning and found a Ford touring car parked in their side yard. It stood there for several days and they became puzzled. It was not Santa Claus season and they began to think that someone had played a joke on them. However, after a lapse of several days a man from North Middletown, Ky., came to Falmouth and claimed the car."

QUICK ACTION SAVE NICHOLAS COUNTY TOWN

The village of Barteville probably was saved from a ruinous fire by the quick work of William Earlywine, whose attention was attracted by a flickering light in the general store. He secured a key, knocked down a flaming kerosene lamp and hurled it from the door a second before it exploded and showered the road with burning oil.

SWIFT & CO.'S WEEKLY PRODUCE MARKET REVIEW

The generally hot weather existing throughout the country has caused more than a normal seasonal decrease in the total production of eggs, butter and cheese, and this, coupled with the good demand for these products has produced higher market values.

The movement of spring chickens, as is natural at this time of the year, is increasing.

Careful handling in the production and marketing of poultry, eggs and butter by the producer, especially during the heated season, contributes to improved products, better values and better satisfaction to the ultimate consumer.
